

ABSTRACT

A system and method of acoustically safe automatic handsfree volume adjustment on mobile communication devices is provided. When the device is selected to operate in handsfree mode, the system automatically defaults to an acoustically safe volume profile such that the device does not 5 cause hearing damage.